Cadets Visit Calgary Park

Approximately 550 Air Cadets from Northern Ontario and the Western Provinces are attending a two-week summer camp at CFB Penhold, Alberta. In addition to their varied program of gliding, small arms practice, sports and drill, the cadets have the opportunity to visit many scenic sites in Alberta. The cadets are seen on a model of an old steam engine located in Heritage Park, Calgary. Throughout the park are dwellings and equipment representing 19th Century Western Canada. In the cab is LAC Charles Swap, 16 of #733 Squadron Drayton Valley, Alberta. Behind the cab is LAC Howard Mackie, 15 of #531 Squadron Trail, B.C. On the step is CPL Murray Milligan, 15 of #191 Squadron Winnipeg, Manitoba. The engineer is L. Hagy of Calgary.

Students Back From Quebec

Drayton Valley's group of exchange travellers returned Monday, August 28th from their trip to Chicoutimi, Quebec.

The twenty-four students from high schools in the Stony Plain School Division enjoyed a wonderful trip and all report enthusiastically on the visit to the Quebec city.

As well as the time spent in Chicoutimi the young people enjoyed a day at Expo and another full day visiting places of interest in Ottawa.

A complete account of the trip is being written by one of the students and will appear in next week's paper.

Lodgepole P.O. Change in Hours

Mrs. Proehl, Lodgepole Postmistress, wishes to remind post office patrons of the change in office hours.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday the hours will be from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 5:30 p.m. On Thursday and Saturday the office will be open from 9 to 12 noon only.

Lots of Steaks Here

Three year old Janice Ganske stands eye to eye with a 32 pound spring salmon balanced by her father, Howard Ganske. The salmon's erect posture is accounted for by being frozen solid. Howard caught the big salmon on a recent trip to Duncan, B.C. where he fishes with a coast man, George Rider, formerly of Saskatchewan. Along with the 32 pounder, Howard also brought home a 29 pound spring.

Kindergarten Classes to Start Wednesday, Sept. 6

The Drayton Valley Community Kindergarten will commence on Wednesday, September 6, 1967 in two locations. A morning class, 9:15 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and an afternoon class, 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., will be held in the basement of the United Church. A second afternoon class, also from 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., will be held in the basement of the Church of God.

The registrations for the 1967-68 term reached a record high of 78. Class size is limited to 20 pupils per class, thus 60 children can be accommodated in three classes. A waiting list exists and any parent may register their child on the kindergarten waiting list providing that the child reaches the age of five years before December 31, 1967. As a vacancy in a class arises the first child on the waiting list is eligible for placement in the class. Fees are $13 per child per month.

Well prepared and experienced teachers have been employed to teach Drayton Valley Community Kindergarten. The teachers are Mrs. Julie Wilner, Mrs. Joan Findlay and Mrs. Rosemary Mayan.

All parents are asked to support the executive of the kindergarten by attending the general meetings. The first general meeting will be on Monday, September 18th at 8:30 p.m. in the Frank Maddock High School. Mark this on your calendar and plan to attend.

To register your child or to obtain more information about Kindergarten please phone Mrs. Lyle, 542-4374.

The kindergarten classes in Drayton Valley are very much in need of educational books and toys appropriate for five-year olds. We would appreciate any donations from parents or friends of kindergarten children of a suitable new or used item in this regard. For further information regarding types of articles needed and for pick up of donations please phone Mrs. R.H. Woods 542-3294.

Telephone Lines Going Underground

Two or three hundred miles of underground cable will be used to bury the rural telephone lines in the Drayton Valley area in a project that got underway by A.G.T. about two weeks ago. Cable for the job is shown stored in the Mack and Mann Trucking yard in Drayton Valley.

Crop Prospects Brighter

Prospects for this year's prairie wheat crop are much brighter than had been expected a few weeks ago.

According to R.E. English, statistician with the Alberta Economics Division, wheat yields in the prairie provinces are not expected to be much below the long-time average despite the cold, wet spring and prolonged period of drought in many areas.

With an increase of 500,000 acres, bringing the total acreage sown to wheat to 29,570,000, this year's crop should yield approximately 500,000,000 compared to 800,000,000 bushels last year which was the largest crop ever recorded in Western Canada. This year's yield per acre is expected to average about 16 bushels.

Compared to wheat, coarse grain yields will not be as high as they were last year because a large percentage of these crops were grown on stubble. Stubble land suffered more drought damage than was the case with summerfallow land. With few exceptions says Mr. English, there should be sufficient feed to carry livestock through the winter months.

Due to a wet backward spring, late seeding, and a summer devoid of a single general rain, Alberta's wheat crop yield is expected to be about 20 per cent below average. Crop variations between farms and between regions make yield forecasts extremely difficult, but indications are that wheat, oats and barley will all be about 20 per cent below normal.

The light frosts that occurred in many regions of Alberta during late June and again in late July did very little damage to cereal crops.

Despite the late spring, all Alberta crops will be harvested earlier than usual this year, says Mr. English. With such a large percentage of the crop being seeded so late, prospects of harvesting a crop without frost damage were dim. However, good growing conditions and the hot weather experienced during the last two weeks have now dissipated that danger.

EVANSBURG

Mrs. M. Bruner, Correspondent

This week, as this is being written, our warm weather has left us and very cool weather is prevailing. It is hoped that it will warm up again in a few days.

The District Agricultural Society has held their annual summer fair and again it has proven to be successful. The weatherman co-operated and a bright sunshiny day made going to the fair very enjoyable. Although at the present time no complete results are available, it can be stated that entries came from as far away as Edson to the west, Mayerthorpe to the north, Gunn to the northeast and New Norway to the southeast. Entries of exhibits were down a little this year, probably due to the extremely dry conditions. However, in the livestock sections entries were generally more numerous than in recent years.

A big parade started out the day and a dance, sponsored by the Junior FUA ended it. The Agricultural queen, Miss Nina Myschuk was crowned at the dance. Draws were made for the gate prize winners and a raffle. Winners' names will be announced next week if all goes well.

On the 19th activities were centered at Evansburg where the annual Kinsman horse show was held. A parade also was on view to the public immediately following a free pancake breakfast. A gymkhana as well as the cutting horse show and jumping horse show provided entertainment for the crowd attending.

The members of the Pembina 4-H Field Crops Club held their annual plot tour and scoring of the plots on the 23. Judging was done by men from the department of youth as well as the Department of Agriculture. Most of the members went along on the tour this year and many of the parents took a keener interest in it. Around thirty-five people took part in looking over approximately fifteen plots. On the whole, a great improvement was seen over the plots the members had had a year ago. Winners of the plot competitions will be announced next week when I have all the names.

We are glad to say our wee Holly is now home from the hospital and feeling fine. However we are sorry to hear that Mr. McGowan is a patient in the Drayton Hospital and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Alberta Day At Expo '67

Saturday, October 7, has been declared Alberta Day at Expo '67, it was announced recently. The date supplants the July 22 date originally assigned the province when Expo was formally announced.

Details of the program for the day have not yet been finalized, according to Hal Martin, Publicity Director for the Alberta Government and Alberta representative to the Western Canada Pavilion at Expo. Efforts will be made to enable the cities of the province to tie in with, or be represented in a satisfactory manner, at Montreal on the occasion of Alberta Day.

A Glimpse of Expo Pavilions

By Mrs. Cornelia R. Wood

Expo 67 gave architects a field day to carry out their ideas, dreams and designs. From every part of the world, theme designs materialized for the architects in pavilions of all sizes, shapes, originality and beauty. When a visitor arrives at Expo 67 and takes a ride on the Minirail, a number of pavilions stand out and can be easily recognized later wherever and when seen

One of these, of course is Canada the biggest National pavilion at the World's Fair. It takes the form of a large inverted pyramid, named "Katimavik" an Eskimo word meaning "meeting place" and suggests the immensity of the country. This is surrounded by a cluster of pyramids housing exhibits showing the changing times, our resources, transportation, growth and development. In the midst of the area stands a 66 ft. high reproduction of a maple tree with its 500 leaves of red and yellow plastic, picturing Canadians at work and play. A rotating theatre takes the visitor on a film journey through the history, accomplishments and hopes of a 100 year-old nation. A childrens' creative centre, where children attend nursery school under skilled teachers, is most interesting.

Ontario's pavilion is just next door and looks something like a series of inverted ice-cream cones, some of them 90 feet high, covered by opaque vinyl glass fibre. Exhibits point out the historical development of the provinces from pioneers to the people of today at work and play.

Quebec Pavilion is a large building giving the visitor one impression of a big glass house The colors change with the time of day in the reflected glass walls. Exhibits show Quebec explorers and pioneers and the progress made through the years and finally a vision of what Quebec expects to be in the year 2000.

The four Atlantic Provinces have joined together in one pavilion nearby. A large 47 foot schooner is being built by ship-builder craftsmen and it is expected to be finished by the end of Expo. Exhibits show the industrial expansion of the four provinces and a fascinating sculpture of whale bone is given much attention by the visitors.

A short distance away is the Western Provinces pavilion with its tall cedar shake roof with huge Douglas Fir trees extending out of the top. Inside an impression of western Canada's resources and their development is made, a mine is visited, a huge loaded logging truck from B.C., a rustling field of grain are shown and sad-faced Hereford cows behind a rail fence beg the visitors to free them until it is found they are only life-like heads of fibre-glass, together with sound effect.

The Canadian Indian Pavilion nearby is shaped like a big teepee and the exhibits speak of the Indians' history before the white men arrived. In a series of statements posted throughout the display the Indians say, "when we were hungry, we killed an animal to eat and gave thanks to the Great Spirit who sent it." "We paid honor to the Great Spirit in all living things by wasting northing." "When the White Man came we welcomed him, sheltered him, fed him and showed him through the forest." "The White Men fought each other for our lands and we were embroiled in the White Man's wars." "The wars ended in treaties and our lands passed into the White Man's hands" "Many Indians feel our fathers were betrayed. A further inscription makes the appeal "Give us the right to manage our own affairs. Help us to preserve the moral values the meaningful way of life, the inheritance of our fathers." This pavilion like the Christian one proved to be very controversial. Non-Indian visitors were given the feeling of not being very proud of our actions concerning the Indians. I heard a group of women say it was "horrible" when we read a panel saying "The white man's school is an alien land for the Indian child."

The tallest pavilion at Expo is that of Britain and it tells about a people who have become a great nation and helped to shape the history of the world, encouraging democracy and the development of free institutions. Tribute is paid to the great writers, musicians, scientists and scholars and to pioneers in radar and jet propulsion. Great sculptured figures of men and women 20 feet high are used to express hope for a world at peace and Britain's response to the challenge of world problems and internaitonal responsibilites.

The United States Pavilion is like a huge glass ball about 20 stories high and 250 feet across. It is made of light weight metal space frame covered with transparent hexagonal tinted plastic sheets. The underlying theme is "Creative America" and exhibits illustrate notable American accomplishments. Stars of Hollywood form one section but the most important exhibit deals with the projected Apollo Space Flight to the Moon with training devices and equipment manufactured for the flight.

Across from this pavilion is the large 138 foot high rectangular-roofed pavilion of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics with the theme, "Everything in the name of Man and for the Good of Man." It emphasizes that Man has taken possession of the earth, conquered space, explored the seas, all for the benefit of Man. Great emphasis is made on the achievements of the Russians in the 50 years since the Communist Revolution of 1917-1967. In the massive building, models of nuclear power stations, factories of all kinds and new towns are shown. No opportunity is lost to tell the visitors, through hundreds of printed signs, that in U.S.S.R. 'education is free of charge at all levels,' and that the number of workers has increased six-fold in 50 years, now totalling 50 millions. The pavilion has a 600 seat theatre where Soviet movies, fashion shows and lectures are given. I heard a Russian Professor give an interesting lecture on "Population Explosion" He told us that in Russia planning of families is in effect and contraceptives are available without prescription and abortions are available on any solid grounds.

Another high pavilion of unusual style is that of France with "Tradition and Invention" as its theme. Achievements of France in science, technology and communication are featured and all spects of life in France are shown in films. A large art display is an outstanding feature. The Paris of today and the Paris of tomorrow are shown.

One of the most fantastic pavilions is that of West Germany. It is a giant tent-like steel-mesh-net supported on eight poles unequal in height giving the appearance of undulating waves. The exhibits in this building were most interesting to me, featuring the origin of many modern inventions. One of the outstanding ones was the Gutenberg Press first in the world and operated as it was 500 years ago.

The list of Expo's outstanding pavilions goes on and on each one having its own particular design, awe-inspiring to the visitors. I belive that there has been nothing in Canada during the past 100 years since Confederation, so imaginative, spectacular and outstanding as the architecture displayed at Expo 67.

Evansburg School Enjoys Good Year

Results obtained in the Grade XII departmental examinations give evidence of a most successful year for students and teachers alike at Evansburg High School.

Out of 107 papers written 100 were passed at the diploma level (93.4%).

Of ninety-five papers written in senior matriculation subjects, eighty-three (87.4%) were passed at this higher level.

One student was unable to write one of his papers due to a death in the family. However, he did well enough in the other five to guarantee him a senior matriculation with just a bare pass when he wrote the other paper during the August supplementals.

Three other students passed six matriculation subjects but needed six (or fewer) additional marks on supplemental examinations to obtain the average required for senior matriculation.

Excellent results were also achieved by students at the Grade X and XI levels. Eighty-four students took a total of 486 subject units at these levels. Passes were secured in 445 (91.6%).

School opens at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, September 5th. Pre-registration of senior high school students is being held on the preceding Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday to enable students and their parents to become aware of programs offered by the high school and receive guidance concerning the most suitable course for each student.

The school has a complete staff and hopes to offer an expanded program of 220 credits an increase of 25 on last year.

United Church Setting For Recent Ceremony

A lovely wedding was solemnized at Drayton Valley United Church on July 29th, when Sharon daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sware of Drayton Valley became the bride of Mr. Garry Crane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crane of Wilkie, Saskatchewan. Reverend Norman McDonald officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of French crepe with a chantilly lace coat, all designed in the empire style by Marj Hronek of Edmonton. The bride's headpiece consisted of three white roses with a shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet consisted of Thai Leaves and red roses.

The maid of honour, Miss Gail Sware, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Miss Margaret McCoy, cousin of the bride wore identical gowns of pink and white French crepe, and carried arm bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom's attendants were Constable Robert LeQuesne of Edmonton and Mr. Rick Simon of Edmonton. The ushers were Ted Dezall of Lethbridge and Mr. Dale Hagen of Edmonton.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sware chose a brown and white nylon dress with pink and champaign accessories. A pale pink orchid completed her ensemble. Mrs. Crane chose a pink linen suit with pink and white accessories, also accented by a pink orchid.

Miss Jean Simon and Miss Susan Nielsen were soloists accompanied by Mrs. Marg Twissell as organist.

A supper of Chinese cuisine was held at the Drayton Valley Hotel for relatives of the young couple and a buffet and dance was held in the Elk's hall for many friends. Mr. Reg Appleyard was master of ceremonies at the reception and Reg Samis proposed the toast to the bride. Miss Liz Stang was social convener and was in charge of the guest book.

For going away the bride chose a white wool dress with black accessories. She carried two dozen long-stemmed red roses, a gift from her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Homme went to Whitecourt August 11th to visit their daughter, Lily and her husband, Dick Wheadon. When Dick arrived to pick them up there was a down pour of rain here in the valley, and 8 miles west toward Tomahawk the dust was flying. The much needed rain for Whitecourt eluded them again.

However, the weather was perfect for the Rodeo held there the 14th and 15th. On Monday morning Dick took his family and inlaws out for a pancake breakfast.

During the day Axel was lucky in having his name drawn for a lovely box of chocolates.

Dick took his family and company to House Mountain which is about 12 miles from the Town of Whitecourt to see the TV towers and the views from look out points.

The excitement was running high during the week as men were being called out to fight fires at Swan Hills.

The noise at daybreak from the mud bombers and planes was terrific.

On August 13 Mary Tattersall's home was a scene of activity when 10 couples with their 27 children arrived.

Visitors to the district on Sunday, 20th, were Mr. and Mrs. Tuke Sonnonburg and family from Bloomsbury and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Draves from Edmonton.

Visiting at the Axel Homme Hommes's were: Dick and Tily Wheadon and family; Mrs. Sarah Ryan and her daughter Lyla Johnson of Calmar, Alta; Sarah is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Onoway and grew up in the Timeson district. She commented on the great changes that have taken place since she moved away 20 years ago. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Eckmond Hansen and other friends along the way.

SWIM MEET SUCCESSFUL

Under sunny skies and with the temperature soaring in the low 80's last Saturday was the ideal day for a swim meet. And the Neptune Club took advantage of the situation to present the finest swim meet ever witnessed in Drayton Valley.

The meet featured teams from Devon, Edson and Drayton Valley. Devon carried away top honors in the event, Edson finished second while the home team made a very creditable showing but had to settle for third place in the afternoon's competition. It was a tremendous team effort on the part of the Neptune team, however, Devon and Edson had a decided edge in age and experience and this had a telling effect in many events of the meet.

Sunday the local Neptune Club travelled to Devon where they took part in the annual swim meet in that town. Once again Devon won the meet by a comfortable margin. The Neptunes gave warning of things to come with another sensational performance. There is no doubt but this Neptune team could displace Devon as a perennial winner in a couple of year's time. It would mean more serious training and extra hard work on the part of the competitors. We have the potential, we also have a top notch coaching staff and the enthusiasm and keen interest of many parents and townspeople. Prospects for the future of the Neptune Swim Team never looked better and you can expect to hear a lot more from them and about them in 1968 and the years that follow.

FOOTBALL NEWS

The Minor Football program is under way, however, we could do with more prospective players especially at the Bantam level. To date we have not had more than twelve boys out to any one practice session. With the first league game only ten days away we need more interested boys out there if we hope to field a suitable team for league competition.

This team will be known as the Drayton Valley Packers and will be playing in the Edmonton Huskie Association Bantam "B" Football League. The first game of the schedule is set against the St. Albert Wranglers on Sunday, September 10th.

The Pee Wee program got under way this week. Interest at this level seems to be keener and a good turnout is anticipated within the next week. We hope to have two teams competing in this category. They will form a community league and compete against each other and possibly some exhibition games may be arranged with Edmonton teams of this calibre. Registration is now open for any and all Pee Wee players at the Recreation Office.

The Mite program, which will feature touch football and be open to boys from six to ten years of age, will get under way next Tuesday, September 5, at 5 p.m. Registration is now open at the Recreation Office. We hope to have a bumper turnout for this part of the program.

The High School program will start to pick up some momentum this week. Coach Paul Bradley called a practice for Tuesday evening and another has been set for Thursday, August 31 at 6 p.m. at the Lions West Valley Recreation Park football field. Anyone interested in playing High School Football this season should attend this practice session. The program will hit full stride with the opening of the school year next week.

Remember Coach Bill Disney needs more players for his Bantam team. All boys twelve to fourteen years of age are invited to try out for the team. We hope to see a lot more football players out during the next week.

AROUND AND ABOUT

We are nearing the end of our swimming season and in all aspects it was one of the better years at the Drayton Valley Swimming Pool. Final figures on the season's operation will be available when the facility closes in September. The pool will remain open until September 22nd to accommodate the school learn to swim program which was highly successful during the month of June.

The Drayton Valley Lions Club will have the Official Opening of their West Valley Park, Saturday, September 9. A tremendous program is being planned for the event with baseball, football, softball and various types of racing listed amonth other activities.

Return from B.C. Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. J. Parenteau and Mr. and Mrs. E. Pare returned Sunday from a week's vacation in B.C. On their return home they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. Pare's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vanderleest and son, Kenny of Hudson Hope, B.C.

Kenny, who suffered a relapse after his ordeal in July when he was lost for three days in the heavy bush at Hudson Hope, is now back to his normal weight and happy self.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderleest and son will be returning to their home in Drayton Valley in two week's time.

January Landscape?

Not really! The photos were taken Monday, August 21st following the devastating early evening hail storm that cut a long swath of damage through the area from west to east. The photos were taken on Highway 57 near the Rocky Rapids Junction where cars had difficulty moving through several inches of hail that ranged from small to golf ball and walnut size.

BERRYMOOR

Mrs. D. Martin
Correspondent

Charlie Martin was home for a short while last Sunday. He came out from Edmonton with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jacobsen and their family. A couple of friends also accompanied them.

Fred Martin returned home on Monday from Brooks, Alberta. He has been employed there for the past three weeks, helping with irrigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Whittaker and family were away for a brief holiday. We hope that they had a very pleasant trip.

Audrey Floden has returned from her trip to Nova Scotia. She reports a very enjoyable time but says it was nice to come back to Alberta.

Wedding bells have been ringing in our community again. Edythe Wideman and Roy Floden were married on Saturday, August 19th. The wedding and reception was held at the home of the brides parents. The reception was an out-door affair and the weather man co-operated beautifully.

John Reznik was also married during this past week. We wish his bride and himself much happiness. The community held a shower for them on Monday evening. They received a number of gifts for which they graciously thanked everyone present.

Mrs. Nina Dell (nee Reznik) is visiting for a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Reznik.

Mr. Ralph Thatcher has just returned from a trip to the interior of B.C. He reports it as being too hot to enjoy travelling there.

Late Monday afternoon a disastrous hail storm swept through a large portion of Berrymoor leaving in many cases, one hundred per cent damage. It is most heart breaking to see the labor of an entire year swept away in a matter of minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin were away for a holiday last week. They visited relatives in Edmonton, and also visited friends at Ashmont, Alberta. They lived at Ashmont many years ago and of course saw many changes.

We extend a welcome to Mr. Mr. and Mrs. H. Hillebrand nd family who have recently moved to our community. They are living at present on Pete Maluneys place. Greetings folks.

A dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan was persuaded by friends to go to the horse races. Being a beginner he picked a 50-1 long-shot and put $2.00 on the nose. Coming into the stretch the long shot horse was neck and neck with the favorite. As they neared the wire for a photo finish, the baseball man hollered, "Slide, you bum, slide."

High Level of Hog Sales Expected to Continue

According to CDA's Economics Branch and DBS figures the high level of sales will continue through the rest of this year end the first half of 1968.

Up to August 5, marketings through approved plants were 21.6 per cent above those of a year earlier and are expected to be higher. In the third quarter by 19 per cent and in the final quarter by 13 per cent over corresponding periods.

Weekly average marketings for the current quarter should be around 148,400, representing 20 per cent more from west Canada and 18 per cent more from the east over year-earlier figures.

In the first half of next year a nine per cent increase over 1967 is expected, giving a weekly rate of 169,600 hogs. This is much higher than in the first-half periods of 1967 (154,900), 1966 (128,000), and 1965 (144,400).

Hog prices have shown relatively little variation so far in 1967 and are not expected to change much this year except for seasonal adjustments in the fall.

The number of hogs on farms in Canada last June 1, was estimated by DBS at 6,012,000-up 11 per cent from 1966, and the highest number since 1959. All provinces reported increases with 9 per cent in the east and 15 per cent in the west.

There were 7 per cent more gilts and sows retained on farms for breeding purposes at June 1, 1967 than for the same date in 1966.

Farrowings in the spring period were the highest since 1959 at 609,400. Farrowing intentions for the fall period of 1967 are 9 per cent over the revised 1966 fall farrowings of 570,000.

Devon Swimmers Win Meet

On Saturday, August 25, 1967, the yearly swim meet of the swim club, "Neptune" was held. The participating clubs were Devon, Edson and Drayton Valley. Again this year, the swim club from Devon showed itself to be the strongest club. Hinton could not come, but if they would have participated, it might have been a close call for Devon. The meet ended with the following results: 1st, Devon with 195 points; 2nd, Edson with 160 points; and 3rd, Drayton Valley with 128 points.

In general the meet went well. No major difficulties were encountered. My thanks to parents of our swimmers and the swimming pool staff who assisted us as timers, judges, etc. In particular I wish to thank Mrs. Steeves, Mr. and Mrs. McKillop, Mrs. Hansen and Tony Vanderleest who with the helping hand of the other people organized this affair. I wish to thank J & A Trucking, Swannee Well Servicing and Ambassador Investments for their generous donations to help us out financially. Also thanks to Block's Store, Drayton Bakery and The Bay for their donation of buns for our weiner roast. Mike Gormley showed up to be a real starter for us. The general comment was from both Edson and Devon that our meet here was better than the last two meets they went to just because of the good starting procedure.

Finally, I would like to comment on our swimmers. They worked hard during the meet and some of them were hampered by "flu". Some were not too well in shape due to lack of training during their holiday trips. However, I feel strongly that if our swimmers would indeed train more seriously and not fool around so much, we would be able to raise our level of achievements and win a meet. Let us train harder, more seriously and see if we can beat Devon, Hinton and Edson next year.

Fall Sheep Sales Planned

Two new commercial sheep sales, called the North-Central Sheep Sales, will be held at the Edmonton public stockyards on September 9 and October 7.

According to V.M. Gleddie, Livestock Specialist with the Alberta Animal Industry Division, these sales are intended to take advantage of a system of offering market and breeding stock of high quality and in sufficient numbers to attract buyers. Although the sales are for commercial sheep, a few registered animals will be offered on September 9.

The annual fall sheep sales held in southern Alberta have established a reputation for having achieved the highest prices of all sales held at that time of the year. Their success is mainly due to the large uniform lots that are offered for sale in a competitive environment.

Dog Popularity Still Increasing

OTTAWA--Dogs are still hanging on to their role as man's best friend in an increasingly city-type of existence that is completely foreign to wild life as their ancestors knew it.

Purebred dog breeding is on the increase--perhaps another indication of the affluent society--but the dog has friends in high and low places. Today he travels by air, lives in air-conditioned apartments, rides in the family car, goes hunting, works for protective agencies, and carries out some important chores on the farm. It isn't much fun barking at a tractor but the Collie is still an all-round farm dog especially suited to Canadian conditions.

In the city the unpedigreed mutt does his share of baby sitting, house watching and occasionally visits the city pound and the humane society.

Dogs give employment to people quite apart from the daily walk around the block. They are the inspiration behind several pieces of legislation, they give work to a large staff operating the Livestock Pedigree Act, they command high stud prices, keep obedience classes filled and of course they use collars and kennels and leads and consume vast quantities of pet food. To pet lovers the merits of dogs far outweigh such questionable traits as going around unclad, fouling up lawns when the owners let them out between dusk and dawn and harassing postmen engaged in delivering H.M. mail.

Estimates vary but there are certainly more than 2,000,000 dogs in Canada.

The number of purebred dogs registered with the Canadian Kennel Club went up to approximately 41,000 last year, an increase of some 2,500 from the previous year.

The Club is incorporated under the Livestock Pedigree Act which is administered for the dog owners by the Canada Department of Agriculture. The pedigrees are maintained by National Livestock Records, a grouping of most of the purebred livestock associations of Canada formed for the purpose of verifying the credentials of purebred animals.

The Kennel Club has kept records since the 1890's when it listed 35 breeds, of which 11 were terriers. Cocker Spaniels, St. Bernards and fox terriers, Collies and setters seem to have been the most popular breeds in the first year.

By 1927 the number of breeds registered had doubled to 52 and since then it has doubled again to 110 breeds recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club.

In the 1965 litter record and stud book, poodles are shown to be in first place with around 9,000 registrations and they still lead. No other breed comes close to this. The poodle (toy, standard and miniature are counted together under the breed name) has become popular, say breeders, partly because it adapts well to apartment living. It was originally a hunting dog but civilization refined him (or spoiled him) and now he takes as much pride in clean housekeeping as his owner does.

Other "indoor" pets that show substantial registration are the Chihuahuas with 1,800 Dachshunds with 1,900, Pomeranians with 1,100 and Pekingese 850.

Jonathan Moore of Ottawa asks Sapphire what she will do for fun when he returns to school. This Keeshond is one of the rarer breeds recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club.

Spaniels continue to have a firm grip on man's affections both in the home and on the hunt. More than 2,000 of all types are registered. The first dog registered in Canada was an English Setter named Forest Fern.

Numerically second to poodles with 3,350 registrations, is the German Shepherd, perhaps the outstanding working dog; he does police and guard duty and is famous as the Seeing Eye. By contrast the proud Doberman Pinscher, a one-man dog sometimes trained for guard duty, has only 374 registrations.

Although there are many thousands of huskies in Canada registrations show only 833 Samoyeds, 129 Siberian Huskies, 41 Alaskan Malamutes, and two Eskimo dogs. In the far north any dog that can mush is a husky, which explains why there is no breed of that name.

The Collie, probably the best all-round working dog in agriculture in this country, has been well represented in the stud book since the beginning of the century and there are 1,100 Collies currently registered. The so-called Miniature Collie is actually a Shetland Sheepdog.

The terrier group has seen a big fall in registration of fox terriers. The Boston terrier (818 entries) doesn't come under that grouping but is classed as a non-sporting dog.

Perhaps the favorite hunting dog in Canada, if purebred registrations are a clue, is the retriever, five breeds of which show a total of 2,200 registrations. In contrast the German pointers muster only 400.

Some breeds have enjoyed a burst of popularity through publicity such as that given by Walt Disney to the Cairn Terrier and by the Royal Family to the Welsh Corgi but the German Shepherd was well established before the canine film star Rin Tin Tin came on the scene. The King Charles spaniel breed was the favorite of the monarch--the one who kept his head--and it is still around as a toy dog.

Crop Rotations Studied on Breton Grey Wooded Soil

Studies of crop rotations on grey wooded soils at Breton, Alberta, have shown a five-year rotation of wheat-oats-barley-hay-hay was a far better producer than the wheat-fallow rotation often used on the prairies.

This five-year rotation when manured and fertilized brought wheat yields up to 32.7 bushels per acres per year. Dr. J.A. Toogood, head of the Soils Department, University of Alberta, says. This compares to the unfertilized wheat yield of 7.4 bushels per acres per year from the wheat-fallow rotation. Yields from the five-year rotation which was fertilized, but not manured, averaged 28.2 bushels per acre. Yields from the five-year rotation which was only manured were 26.5 bushels per acre.

The addition of grasses and legumes to the rotation proved to be the most valuable way to increase the yield of wheat on the Breton Grey Wooded soil. The five-year rotation with grasses and legumes, but no fertilizer or manure, yielded 13.9 bushels of wheat. This was 0.4 bushels more than the wheat-fallow rotation which had been manured and fertilized.

The soils experiments at the Breton plots were begun in 1930 by Professors F.A. Wyatt and J.D. Newton, then of the University Soils Department. At that time settlers were breaking Alberta's grey wooded soils and getting extremely poor yields for their efforts.

It was hoped that by experimenting with a cropping and fertilizing program ways to improve grey wooded soil yields would be found.

This now apparently has been the case. Yields of oats and barley in the five-year rotation at the Breton plots have shown good reponses similar to wheat because of good soil management. Oats which were manured and fertilized yielded 51.9 bushels compared to 25.3 bushels per acre with no manure or fertilizer. Barley manured and fertilized yielded 32.5 bushels compared to 13.5 bushels with no manure or fertilizer.

Yields of grass-legume forage mixtures in the Breton plots crop rotation showed marked increases in yield when manured and fertilized. On the first year hay crop which had been manured and fertilized, yields of cured hay have averaged 44.8 hundredweights per acre. Yields of cured hay with no fertilizer yielded only 10.8 hundredweights per acre.

Yields of hay from manuring and fertilizing showed an even more marked improvement the second year. That year, the crop manured and fertilized yielded a whopping 47.8 hundredweights of cured hay compared to 6.3 hundredweights where no fertilizing or manuring had been done.

"There is little doubt," Dr. Toogood says, "that the use of good crop rotations, the spreading of manure and the application of the right kind and amount of commercial fertilizer will pay good dividends on capital invested."

Dr. Toogood says that extensive comparison of fertilizers on the Breton plots has shown that sulphur, nitrogen and phosphorus are the chief elements lacking on grey wooded soils. Co-operative experiments on other grey wooded soils in the area have shown these deficiencies are common on most grey wooded soils.

The head of the soils department has three suggestions to help improve the productivity of grey wooded soils.

1. Legumes and legume-grass mixtures will usually require fertilizer containing sulphur. An estimated 65 per cent of grey wooded soils are lacking in sulphur. These crops will also require phosphorus in most cases. Responses to nitrogen applied at less than 20 pounds per acre have been slight. But when nitrogen was applied at double or triple this amount, responses have been good.

2. Grasses require nitrogen, phosphorus and, in some cases sulphur. However, the grasses do not respond as markedly to sulphur as do legumes. Forage crops consisting only of grasses are not recommended because of their inferior feeding quality and comparatively low yields.

3. Grains should be grown in rotation with legumes or grass-legume mixtures. Fertilizers supplying nitrogen and phosphorus should be used. As yet, no widespread potassium deficiencies have been revealed, but the Lacombe research station and farmers in an area west of Ponoka have observed soils which show a marked response to potassium.

Research, Dr. Toogood says, has shown that poor soils can be built up and improved by good management. Rich, virgin soils, on the other hand, can be kept highly productive by careful attention to soil conservation measures.

Work Started on Improvements To Highway No. 2 at City

Gordon Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways announced recently that grading operations for the initial construction of Highway No. 2 from the Edmonton City limits to south of Ellerslie would commence this week.

This construction will provide a section parallel to the existing highway and on the west side and will thus convert the highway into a divided expressway of six lanes, three north and three south. Access points will be reduced and the points of entrance and exit opposite Ellerslie and just south of the Saratoga will be provided with left turning bays and acceleration and deceleration lanes for entering and exiting for right turns.

The work will be advanced as quickly as possible and a contract for the base course will be let as soon as there is sufficient grading ready. Extending the project south is of the utmost importance and detailed engineering and surveys are being carried out to this end. The work will be continued progresively next year.

To provide adequate service and distribution of traffic to the city, the No. 2 Highway facility must be equipped with major interchange facilities looking forward to the ultimate development of the Mill Creek freeway and to a freeway complex west of present No. 2. Therefore the planning and ultimate design and staging the work must be closely co-ordinated with the work of the City of Edmonton.

The work will be under the direct control of Robert Cronkhite, P. Eng., Chief Construction Engineer for the Province.

September Food Outlook

ORTAWA--Ample supplies of apples, potatoes and most vegetables, with lower but steady prices for vegetables, are predicted in the Food Outlook prepared by CDA's Economics Branch for September.

Egg prices are likely to advance moderately to near their seasonal high for 1967.

Heavy turkey prices will remain relatively low as stocks and early marketings are both large. Broiler Chicken prices could firm slightly, production having been reduced.

Beef prices may strengthen under strong consumer demand and relatively lighter supplies. Slightly easier prices are predicted for pork because supplies are likely to be up.

A bumper crop of apples is in the making, especially in British Columbia. Early varieties are in plentiful supply and demand is good.

Potato growing conditions have been good and the fall crop should be ample.

Local production is ample for most vegetables with lower but steady prices. Supplies of lettuce are barely meeting the demand.

TO HONOR OLDEST, YOUNGEST CITIZENS

Alberta's oldest and youngest citizens will be honoured in a ceremony on the steps of the Legislative Building at 4:15 p.m. on Friday, September 1st. This is the anniversary of the date on which Alberta entered the Confederation of Canada as a province and it will be marked by a simple ceremony.

The PPCLI Band will be in attendance and there will be brief addresses by his Honour Lieutenant-Governor J.W. Grant MacEwan and the Honourable The Premier E.C. Manning. Following these addresses gifts will be presented to an Alberta resident 100 years old representing all the Centenarians in the province (of which there are some 45), and to a baby born on July 1st, representative of close to 100 children born on that day in this Centennial year.

Weekly Clippings

Centennial Commissioner John Fisher and writer Jack Struthers, left, look over mounds of Centennial clippings from weekly newspapers. Clippings on the Commissioner's desk are "Centennial Report" columns which boosted Centennial from coast to coast. The Weekly Press, according to Mr. Fisher has been instrumental in the success of Centennial events in Canadian communities across the country.

Centennial Commissioner Notes Help of Weeklies

Weekly newspapers and thenic papers have done a great job promoting Canada's Centennial according to John Fisher, Centennial Commissioner.

"The people in the small communities across the land represent the backbone of Canadian opinion and in the case of the Centennial celebrations I'm convinced that the wave of enthusiasm first built up in areas beyond the big cities.

"Weekly papers have helped to promote the Confederation Train and Confederation Caravan tours and many other national, provincial and local programs and celebrations. So have the ethnic papers and we're grateful for the co-operative spirit of editors and publishers. Most important of all, they stimulated local interest with their reportage to the extent that Centennial enthusiasm was carried to its heights mainly by non-government involvement," Mr. Fisher said.

Early last year Mr. Fisher and Jack Struthers, Chief of Information Services at the Centennial Commission (and former weekly newspaper editor) worked out a theme for a newspaper column, "Centennial Report" by Mr. Fisher, which went exclusively to Canadian weekly papers and ethnic papers.

Commenting on the success of the column, Mr. Fisher says, "Weeklies ordinarily don't want hand-out material for their news columns but because the subject was Centennial they went all out. By last fall 500 weeklies used at least one of our reports a month. Canadian Scene News Service, a non-profit organization in Toronto which serves ethnic publications, adapted the material into 14 other languages and sent it to ethnic editors. Well over 50 Canadian papers publishing in languages other than English carried the columns. In fact there was even one in Philadelphia using it.

"The kind of spirit which will keep Canada going at a Centennial tempo in the future will get much of its energy from the small towns and rural areas across this country," he added.

"You youngsters of today want too much money. Do you know what I was getting when I married your aunt?"

"No," the youth replied, "and I bet you didn't either."
